

TUESDAY EVENING SEPT. 7, 1909.

It would seem to go without saying says Bradstreet that one assuming to practice one of the so-called learned professions should understand and have some facility in the use in speaking of the language of the country in which he practices. We find, however, that a committee of lawyers' association in New York city deems it necessary to urge that such a command of the English language as that indicated above should be possessed by applicants for admission to the bar of which Chastice and Evans and Carter and O'Connor have been members. The committee of the New York County Lawyers' Association says that the educational tests, preliminary and general, for admission to the bar are wholly insufficient, and that students nowadays are not instructed in the real value and function of their office as lawyers. As a partial remedy it urges the lengthening of the period of clerkship or of technical study, and that the examination for admission to the bar be oral as well as written. It will not escape notice that the subject of improving the education of lawyers has engaged the attention of the American Bar Association, some of whose leading members believe that the time has come when a marked advance in that direction is desirable.

Twelve Russian "Holy Rollers," religious fanatics, are in jail at San Francisco today as a result of a dance they gave last night, in which the men appeared nude and the women wore but the scantiest garments. The dance was started on the street, but it did not reach its "Salome" stage until Scott's Hall was reached. Here the religious frenzy of the men and women increased and clothing was flung aside. Police raided the hall and threw blankets over the dancers. Tremendous crowds followed the patrol wagon in its run to the station. History is even repeating itself. The predecessors to the "Holy Rollers" have appeared in the world on several occasions under different names. At one time they were known as "Adamites," and believed it was wrong to wear clothing, but that men and women should live in the condition in which they were placed in the Garden of Eden. Later they appeared in London where they declared themselves to be "The Naked Truth," and on one occasion walked out of a hall in that city in which they held a meeting in nature's attire only. Their last act was in San Francisco, as is described above.

When the first International Congress for the suppression of street noises is called to order in Berlin in June, 1910, there will be representatives, according to a statement made by Mr. Borden-green, of the society for the betterment of London, from the United States, England, Germany, Austria, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Denmark. "By this time," says one of the New York society, "the objects of the organization will have become better known, and we will have outlived the ridicule with which the noise fighters are now looked upon." Alexandria should be represented at this congress, as this city has the reputation among strangers of being the noisiest city of its size in the world. The residents, however, do not seem to mind the noise.

MR. FRANK P. BRENT, a former chief clerk of the State Board of Education, but now the republican candidate for superintendent of public instruction, addressed the voters of Richmond county at Warsaw yesterday, during which he arraigned the democratic party for the mismanagement of affairs in the state. At the close of Mr. Brent's speech, responding to a call, Congressman W. A. Jones responded and effectively answered the attack of Mr. Brent, whom he severely criticized for becoming the candidate of the party which he (Brent) had so vigorously fought in the past. Former democrats when they become republican candidates for office seem to forget the past entirely.

At King George Courthouse yesterday Mr. J. L. Crupper, of this city, republican candidate for state treasurer, addressed the voters of that county on the issues of the day. Alexandrians know of Mr. Crupper's fluent speeches and persuasive arguments, but, strange to narrate, the King George correspondents failed to report his speech, which will be regretted here.

UNDER GERMAN government inspection, 1,051 dogs were killed for food in three months of this year. The "hot dog" slang, as applied to sausage, has thus ceased to be a joke, suggests the Philadelphia North American.

The dismembered body of the girl found in Eccles creek near Detroit, was identified this afternoon as that of Miss Mabel Millman, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who went to Detroit a week ago to visit friends.

Washington, Sept. 7.

Approval was given today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to the agreement previously reached between the two hundred or more petitioners and the score or more railroads in the famous Yellow Pine cases. According to the agreement, signed by the parties on May 14 and approved today, the railroads agree to pay 67 per cent of the face amount of the provable claims for reparation against them. In all, these claims will amount to $1,500,000. The so-called Yellow Pine cases originated in complaints by lumber firms for alleged excessive rates in Louisiana, Mississippi and western Alabama, the section known as the Central Yellow Pine Association territory. In the commission's order today, the railroads are directed to submit a report on December 1, stating the amount paid in reparation, and must hereafter further report their payments in these cases on the first of each succeeding month.

Protesting that the failure of Rear Admiral Schroeder to grant shore leave to the men of his fleet who are at target practice off Norfolk, would give that city and vicinity a bad name, a delegation from the Norfolk Board of Trade today called upon acting Secretary of the navy Winthrop to urge him to raise what they believe to be an embargo against the port. The delegation was headed by Congressman Maynard, National Committeeman Martin, Collector of Customs Hughes, and included the health officers of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News. When the fleet was last there, a number of typhoid cases appeared among the men and it was declared that the infection could be traced both to Norfolk and Philadelphia. The delegation today assured Secretary Winthrop that the health of Norfolk and vicinity was better this year than for many years and the members disputed the theory that the seamen had contracted fever at that port. The secretary referred the medical officers of the delegation to the officers of the bureau of medicine and surgery for submission of their facts and dates. The report thus prepared will be forwarded to Admiral Schroeder for his information. No orders have been issued by the Navy Department prohibiting shore leave at Norfolk nor is it the intention to issue any orders providing for such leave. The whole matter will be left to the judgment of the admiral in command and the fleet's surgeon.

The State Department has received a telegram from William Owen, U. S. deputy consul general at Guatemala, reporting the death of James Theodore Thompson, the United States consular agent at San Jose de Guatemala, on September 5. Mr. Thompson was appointed to that place October 8, 1908, from New Jersey, but had previously lived many years in Central America.

Army surgeons are asking why is it that young physicians are not anxious to become attached to the army. There is at present a lack of candidates who present themselves for examination for appointment out to commissions in the medical corps. The examinations held a few weeks ago in all parts of the country resulted in producing about one-half of the number of provisionally qualified candidates needed to fill the existing vacancies.

A two-day civil service examination for aide in the coast and geodetic survey will be held in this city on Wednesday and Thursday. The examination will be conducted by Mr. N. L. Williamson, secretary of the commission.

Fire last night damaged the Shanghai-Alanta Cigar store, 1024 Connecticut avenue, the Goodyear Rubber Company's store and the Plaza Market, 1023 Connecticut avenue, to the extent of several thousand dollars.

GREAT TEMPLES OF ICE.

Changchun Arctic temples of ice amid the icy deserts of Greenland were found by the survivors of the ill-fated Erichsen expedition to the North Pole.

A crystal palace of superhuman architecture vaster than a dozen cathedrals and Egyptian temple, resplendent with jewels and endless decorations of ice, is described.

Created by nature in a forbidding wilderness, it frightened and awed the explorers. The dreams of poets and the fancies of epic bards were surpassed by this vision of colossal loveliness which the painter, Achille Fries, a member of the expedition, endeavored to carry away for the benefit of the dwellers in civilization.

More than a mile in length, the lofty nave of this temple was pierced at intervals with windows, through which the gleaming sun rays sprinkled on columns and cubes and immense clusters of stalactites like pendant jewels. Through the center of the ice palace flowed a stream of water whose occasional ripples and splashing fall broke the majestic silence.

Far north it is possible that ice palaces and temples should endure without change longer than human structures of stone. The carcasses of prehistoric monsters have remained inviolate in Arctic tombs for thousands of years, while granite pyramids have worn away and Babylonian civilization has been buried deep in the earth. CARRIED JOKE TOO FAR.

A. T. Peterson, aged 30 years, was drowned in Lake Washington, near Fortuna Park, in the vicinity of Seattle, Sunday, while the people on shore refused to go to his aid, thinking that his calls for help were to frighten them. Peterson had been in the water for some time and had frequently brought people to his aid by calling for help, only to tell them when they reached him it was a joke. Peterson carried his joke too far. A policeman warned him to stop or get out of the water. Instead, Peterson swam out into the deep water and again began calling for aid. No one paid any attention to him. "I mean it this time; I am sinking!" shouted the man in the water, and sank. He did not rise again.

BOY HEIR TO MILLION DIES.

News was received at New York yesterday of the death in Baden Baden of William Goddard Iselin, the 7-year-old son of C. Oliver Iselin. The boy was Mr. Iselin's first child by his second marriage. His mother was Hope Goddard, daughter of Colonel William Goddard, of Providence, R. I. At the death of Colonel Goddard, Mrs. Iselin received $100,000 outright by the terms of the will, and eventually the bulk of the estate of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 will be hers. William Goddard Iselin would have inherited most of this, as well as a fair share of his father's fortune.

News of the Day.

Col. Isaac D. Smead, head of the firm of Isaac D. Smead & Co., of Cincinnati, and one of the widest known engineers of that city and Pittsburgh, died yesterday afternoon in Baltimore of heart disease, being stricken down on north Charles street, near Lexington.

Crazed by liquor or drug, a giant negro made a desperate effort to jump from the Aqueduct bridge last night, and fought Policeman Kuster, of Washington, until subdued. The negro was removed to the Georgetown University Hospital in a patrol wagon. He was in a stupor, which physicians attributed to the drink or drug he had taken.

Easton, Md., was visited by a serious conflagration yesterday afternoon which at times threatened the destruction of the business section. Twelve houses were destroyed, with a loss of about $20,000. The fire originated in the hayloft of Lewis K. Edgell's livery stable, on Federal street, and is said to have been caused by a colored boy in his employ smoking a cigarette.

Judge Alexander Garber, attorney general of Alabama, has decided that it would be a violation of the stringent prohibition law of Alabama for wine to be served at a fashionable wedding given by A. Spera for his daughter, who will be married in a few days. Mr. Spera is one of the wealthiest business men of the city, and he wished to serve champagne at the marriage feast. The banquet will be a dry affair.

Official figures show that Richardo Jimenez, the republican candidate, was elected president of Costa Rica over Don Rafael Iglesias, the civil candidate. Jimenez had a total of 50,000 votes, while his rival obtained only 16,000.

P. L. Smith, 32, a wholesale grocer of New Orleans, La., committed suicide in his room at the Gilbey house, New York, by cutting his throat today.

Virginia News.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Browne Arundel, of Ashburn, Loudoun county, to Prof. Horatio Stahl, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg.

To win a purse of $50, William Gordon Elam, local insurance man, Saturday night lay in an old coffin resting on the top floor of the Floradora clubhouse, beside Lake Phillips, six miles north of Suffolk.

The democratic state campaign will open soon. Among those who will speak during the canvass are Senator Daniel, Senator Martin, Gov. Swanson, Judge Mann, Harry St. George Tucker and Henry Stuart.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Everett, of Hamilton, Loudoun county, have issued an announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Harriet English Everett, to Dr. J. J. Remsburg, of Walkersville, Md. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

The republican convention met at Cox's store in White Oak, Stafford, Saturday, to consider the question of nominating a candidate for the House of Delegates from King George and Stafford counties. The meeting deemed it inexpedient to make a nomination.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company has been given the right to file the claim of the estate of the late Samuel McCue to the last ditch, and within a few days the company will make application before the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of certiorari. The insurance company has been fighting the claim ever since the death by hanging of the insured. The case first went to the Court of Appeals of Virginia, and was moved to the United States District Court, which decided in favor of the company. When the decision of the lower court was shown to be against the heirs, their representatives took the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed the decision of the lower court and decided that the claim of $15,000 should be paid.

Victory for the "Wets."

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 7.—What is regarded as a victory for the "wets" is contained in a decision handed down today by Judge Keller, who declares that M. A. Stull, for 12 years a resident of Bristol, Tenn., is a legal voter in Bristol, Va. Bristol is half in Tennessee and half in Virginia, and necessarily there are two different governments for the city. The Bristol, Tenn., side is "dry," because the whole state is "dry." The Bristol, Va., side has been dry until recently under a local option election. In the recent election, however, the Virginia side voted "wet." The "drys" contested, declaring many residents of the Tennessee side of the town had voted on the Virginia side and turned the course of the election. Judge Keller's decision is regarded as a blow at the "drys," and it is confidently believed Bristol, Va., will soon begin granting licenses to the liquor men.

Electrocution Postponed.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 7.—The first execution by electricity in North Carolina was today necessarily postponed because of the delay in the arrival of the electric chair from New York, and pending the coming of the death chair, a negro convicted of assaulting and then killing a Croatan Indian woman has been respited. As soon as the chair gets here and has been tested, the negro will be put to death. There are but four offenses for which death is the punishment in this state: murder, criminal assault, burglary of an inhabited residence, and arson of an inhabited residence, though there have been few executions for the two latter offenses.

Anxiety for Oil Men.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 7.—Much alarm is felt here today for the safety of the lives and property of many American oil men in Soto la Marina, and the surrounding country, which territory is reported overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The Alcaldes of Pasa de la Reina sends word of the tidal wave. General Manager Clark of the National Railway has sent the steamer Panuco with relief supplies. The affected district is situated on the gulf coast of the state of Tamaulipas, where rich oil discoveries were recently made.

The Joyette Wins.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 7.—In a very close and exciting finish the American sloop yacht Joyette won the President Cup, by defeating the Ellen in the sixth race this afternoon by a margin of twenty seconds. The Joyette crossed the finish line at 1:22. The Ellen will receive the Governor Draper cup, having the second best number of points for the series.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Dispatches from Peary.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary-treasurer of the Peary Arctic Club, is today in receipt of a message from Commander Peary, as follows:

"Kindly rush following—Wire all the principal home and foreign geographical societies of all nations, including Japan and Brazil, that the North Pole was reached April 6th, by Peary's Arctic Club expedition, under Commander Peary."

Bridgman wired the news to the secretary of the navy, and ex-president Roosevelt at Nairobi, British East Africa. The message to Mr. Roosevelt was as follows:

"North Pole discovered April 6 by the Peary Arctic Club's expedition in command of Peary."

No reply has been received as yet from the ex-president.

Messages have been sent by Mr. Bridgman already to the Royal Geographical Society, of London, Brussels, and Rome, the Imperial Geographical Society, located in Berlin, and St. Petersburg and the Paris Geographical societies.

Commander Peary is now at sea. He is expected to reach Sydney on Thursday, when, it is generally believed, he will hurry on to New York which he will be able to reach from Sydney in 36 hours.

The following messages tell of the discovery:

To United Press:—Stars and Stripes hailed to the pole.—[Peary.]

To Herbert L. Bridgman, Secretary of the Peary Arctic Club of Brooklyn:—Successful. Roosevelt safe.—[Peary.]

To Mrs. Robert E. Peary, at South Harpswell, Maine:—Have made good at last. I have the old Pole. Am well. Love. Will wire again from Chateau. —[Bert (he name by which Mrs. Peary calls him).]

To George A. Carmack, secretary of the New York Yacht Club:—Sloop yacht Roosevelt, flying club burgee, has enabled me to add North Pole to club's other trophies.—[Peary.]

To D. W. Abercrombie, Principal of the Worcester Academy, from D. D. McMillan, one of the academy's instructors, who accompanied Peary: Top of the earth reached at last. Greetings to faculty and boys.

To Mrs. W. O. Fogg, at Freeport, Maine, from D. D. McMillan, who is her brother:—Arrived safe. Pole on board. Best year of my life.

To Ralph Williams, Governor of Newfoundland, at St. John's:—I have the pole. Captain Bartlett and his men are all returning in good health. I can congratulate you and Newfoundland for them.—[Peary.]

To New York Times:—I have pole. April 6. Expect arrive Chateau Bay September 7.—[Peary.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—The secretary of the navy has received the following from the secretary of the Peary Arctic Club:

"Commander Peary telegraphs from Indian Harbor, Labrador:

North Pole reached April 6, by Peary Arctic Club Expedition under my command. BRIDGMAN, Secretary."

New York, Sept. 7.—General Thomas R. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club, this afternoon received the following message from Commander Peary:

Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., September 6th.

Thanks your assistance, the 300 years search of North Pole is ended. Pole occupied by club's expedition April 6. Roosevelt returns uninjured. PEARY.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 7.—Henry G. Bryant, president of the Philadelphia Geographical Society, today received the following cablegram:

Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., September 7th.

The pole is ours. Thank you. PEARY.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 7.—Zenas Crane, who contributed to the Peary expedition fund the sum of $10,000, today received the following dispatch:

Indian Harbor, N. F., via Cape Ray, September 7.

Zenas Crane, Dalton, Mass.:

Thanks to your assistance we have the centuries race of the nations for the pole. The pole is ours. Regards to Mrs. Crane. PEARY.

Eagle Island, Maine, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Robert Edwin Peary and her two children are today rushing preparations to go to Sydney, Nova Scotia, where they expect Commander Peary to land from the Roosevelt and proceed by train to Washington, D. C.

Chateau Bay, Labrador, Sept. 7.—This little town on the bleak coast of Labrador, is excited as never before in its history today by the expected arrival this afternoon of Commander Robert E. Peary, who yesterday electrified the world with the announcement that he had "nailed the Stars and Stripes to the North Pole," on April 6 of this year.

Peary is coming aboard the little steamer Roosevelt, which carried him on his perilous trip until the frigidity of the far north hemmed it in with ice.

Natives within all points of communication have rushed to Chateau Bay and Commander Peary is assured of a welcome which, if lacking in the spectacular features that greeted Dr. Frederick A. Cook's return to civilization at Copenhagen, will nevertheless be as enthusiastic.

Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—"Bailly for Peary" was the first exclamation of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, when he was handed a copy of the dispatch from Commander Peary to the United Press announcing his successful quest of the globe. "There can be no doubt in the minds of any one who knows Commander Peary that that message came from him. The wording of it makes me sure that he has reached the pole; it sounds so like Peary."

Despite Dr. Cook's generous tribute to his rival, it was an obvious fact that Peary's message had nettled him considerably and he stated that owing to his great desire to rejoin his wife and children he may alter his plans and leave for New York, sailing from Antwerp within a week. It is generally believed here that Dr. Cook deems it advisable to retain the strategic advantage he has already gained and get back to New York ahead of Commander Peary.

London, Sept. 7.—A British news agency publishes a dispatch today from St. John's, in which it is said that Commander Peary lays claims to being the first man to reach the North Pole. The message has not been confirmed and it is believed here that it is based on the message reported to have been sent out yesterday by Captain Bartlett, of the Roosevelt, in which Bartlett claimed priority of discovery for the Peary expedition.

Harriman Suffers a Relapse.

Turner, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The seriousness of the physical condition of E. H. Harriman was indicated this afternoon by Roland Harriman, the youngest son of the financier, who in an automobile, came down to the Arden postoffice to get the Harriman mail.

"Is your father better today?" he was asked by a representative of the United Press.

"I have not been allowed to see him today," he replied gravely, "but I do not think he is so awful bad," he hastened to add.

Turner, N. Y., Sept. 7.—All the grave concerns over the condition of Edward H. Harriman, in his mountain home on Tower Hill, is revived today, following the official announcement given out last night by Dr. Lyle, the Harriman private physician, who said:

"Mr. Harriman has suffered a relapse. He had a slight attack of indigestion on Sunday, but he is resting comfortably today. Mr. Harriman is a sick man, but we hope for the best."

Today newspaper men were refused information Harriman's home, and 12 heavily armed, patrol the mountain, driving back all who attempt to reach the home. These guards were changed at 7 o'clock this morning and simultaneously came the announcement that Harriman was asleep. He had passed a restless night, and it was not until Dr. Lyle gave him a strong narcotic that he closed his eyes. Harriman is said to be weaker today than at any time since his return to America.

The few people about the Harriman home, who will talk today declare that Harriman is a dangerously sick man, but his physicians hope for the best.

The character of Harriman's disease and the nature of the threatened operation are still closely guarded secrets. It is said today, however, that after the examination of Harriman by Drs. Brewer, Crille and Jones, Harriman submitted to another examination by Drs. Wyeth and Hancock, noted New York cancer specialists.

It was also learned today that grave apprehension regarding Harriman's recovery was felt at the Harriman home Sunday night, after his relapse of Saturday.

Reports from the Harriman home shortly before noon were that Harriman has a high fever, following his attack of indigestion and that ice bags are constantly kept on his body in an effort to reduce his temperature.

New York, Sept. 7.—Ex-Judge Robert S. Lovett, traffic officials of the Union Pacific and representatives of all the Harriman lines and interests held a secret session in the office of the Union Pacific today. At its conclusion Lovett declined to tell what was under discussion.

Judge Lovett looked grave and worried as he hurried into the office. The only statement he would make was to refer questioners to Dr. Lyle, Harriman's physician, and to say he understood Harriman was better today.

It is significant that after the railroad men had been in session for some time a number of representatives of the Harriman banking interests hurried to the Union Pacific offices and went into the conference. None of them would talk.

Floods in Mexico.

Tampico, Mex., Sept. 7.—An overflow of the Soto la Marina river, which empties into the Gulf of Mexico, 150 miles north of Tampico, has caused enormous destruction of property and great loss of life, according to messages for relief which were received here today from points in the section.

It is said the town of Soto la Marina, with a population of 7,000, was destroyed.

The homes of a large number of American colonists, mostly from Missouri and Kansas, who lived near Soto la Marina were washed away. Several persons are missing.

The loss of life at Soto la Marina and other towns in the path of the overflow was heavy. The towns of Palo Alto, Abasco, and Jimico were some of the larger places from which reports of loss of life have been received.

Moors Defeated.

Melilla, Sept. 7.—Fifteen hundred Moors suffered a severe reverse today in an attack on the columns of General Aguilera, who were marching to Sokrah when attacked. The losses of the Moors were unusually heavy. They were pursued back to their camp and a large part of the camp was destroyed.

A decisive battle is expected within the next few days, as the Moors are anxious to strike a blow before the arrival of the 11,000 reinforcements that are preparing to leave Spain under the command of General Fernando Alvarez de Sotomayor.

The Spaniards are gradually extending their lines and with the aid of the troops now embarking for Morocco, they should be able to bring the campaign to a speedy termination.

A Murderous Sailor.

New York, Sept. 7.—The Royal Dutch-West India mail steamer Surinam, which arrived today from South American and West Indian ports, brought a story of attempted crimes on the high seas. On Friday, September 3, a negro sailor from Caracas attempted to stab the chief steward. He was locked up in one of the after-deck rooms, but managed to crawl through a port hole and reach deck. He was ordered to return to his cabin where he attempted to stab the chief officer and after a desperate battle he was finally cornered, handcuffed and locked in the ship's brig. He is still in irons on the ship.

Train Ditched.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—Burlington passenger train No. 22, bound for Kansas City, was ditched at 5 o'clock today at Hall's Station, 11 miles south of St. Joseph, Mo. The accident was caused by a washout. Five cars left the track after the engine and baggage cars had passed over the weakened tracks. The cars sank into the mud and creased to one side, but did not turn over. It was at first reported that a number of people had been killed, but later dispatches say no one was killed and none severely injured.

THE HUFFY TROUBLES.

Warrants for the arrest of Mrs. Mary Page Huff, who disappeared from her bungalow at Wanamassa, N. J., when her husband came in an automobile last week and removed their two children, and of Theodore D. Wilson, a New York broker, issued by Justice M. L. Ferris, of Asbury Park, have not been served.

Counselor Charles E. Cook, who represents Malcolm Huff, a Washingtonian and the husband, says Mrs. Huff and Wilson have left the state.

It has been announced in Asbury Park that Mrs. Huff has brought suit for divorce against her husband in Washington, where Henry Davis is her lawyer. Patterson & Rhine represent her in Asbury, and they are preparing to bring suit to recover possession of the children.

A suit is said to be under way in New York, with Otto Horowitz as counsel, to recover damages against Wilson for alienating Mrs. Huff's affections.
